

Good day!

As a seasoned designer with the dexterity to perform above the norm, I may be the match for the position that you are looking to fill. Within my acquirments are skill sets and knowledge that I have accrued over the past 14 years in the professional creative field. I have a wide variety of experiences ranging from advertising to design with a high concentration of web design in the past 8 years. I am highly proficient in HTML, CSS, Flash and JavaScript with additional experiences in blogging tools such as WordPress and Blogger. In addition, I have had recent involvement in web design for mobile devices as well as a lead design role in an app design project for the iPad tablet. As popularity grows exponentially for mobile devices such as tablets and smart phones, I believe these experiences are crucial in the future of web design.

For examples of my work, please visit my portfolio site at www.ijoon.com. I hope that you will find my work satisfactory and my abilities suitable. If you have any questions or would like receive a list of references after you have visited my portfolio site, you can email me at captainjoon@hotmail.com or call 847-561-0525. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Seungjoon Lee

